

February 22, 2009

Where Are We Going...

“A reassurance marker or road identification sign is an indicatory road sign that repeats the name or number of the current route. Typically posted at intervals alongside a numbered highway, the signs are intended to reassure drivers that they are traveling on the desired road (or to inform them that they are not).”

Wikipedia.org – “Reassurance Sign”

“Milestones are constructed to reassure travelers that the proper path is being followed, and to indicate either distance traveled or the remaining distance to a destination.”

Wikipedia.org – “Milestone”

1. Before      2. Me      3. Now      4. Later

WHAT ARE YOUR MILESTONES?

Who are your reassurance markers?

What's the next milestone?

What reassurance do you need now?

To read: Joshua 4, Genesis 28:10-18

To do: Find a reassurance marker that helped you after a milestone. Tell someone about it.